When Ashley entered Family Promise in the summer of 2018, she was a single mother of an 18-month-old girl. At the time, she did not have an income, benefits or daycare. She was also legally blind and did not have the glasses she needed to be able to read, work or shop. During her stay in Temporary Housing, Ashley's case manager linked her to health care, food stamps and medical benefits, and ensured that she received corrective glasses. The case manager also enrolled her daughter in daycare, so she could look for employment. Employment Services staff helped Ashley to find a well-paying job, and, with the assistance of the Rapid Re-Housing Program, she was able to locate an affordable apartment. Ashley and her daughter are now living independently and are being served through Family Promise's Community-Based Services. Ashley is determined not to return to homelessness and has been looking into enrolling in a GED program to further her education.
